November always marks the beginning of the busy holiday season, and we all look forward to the bustling crowds in the store. This year will be different, but we are committed to help make this holiday as warm and wonderful as possible! I always make the case for books as the perfect Christmas gift, but I feel that this is particularly true this year. As we hunker down, what better way to while away the time than with the perfect novel, the intriguing biography, the fascinating history, the suspenseful mystery, or the inspiring cookbook. And please shop early as publishers are already telling us some titles will be hard to get. But also know that our Book Stall booksellers are truly excellent at suggesting alternatives! Gift cards also make great gifts, as do memberships in our Children’s and Adult Book Clubs (see page 8 for details).

We also celebrate Small Business Saturday on November 28, which is particularly important this year as we watch so many beloved establishments close their doors. Please seek out opportunities to shop at the many fine shops here on the North Shore that need your business now more than ever to survive the pandemic. Why not think of every day for the rest of the year as Small Business Saturday?

As a store, we meet regularly to discuss maintaining the safety of our environment—but please check our website and e-blast for up-to-the-moment information; our protocol may change based on what the experts and government officials advise. Here are some of the key changes we are making for the holiday season:

1. Online Easy Ordering: We’ve updated our website to make browsing easier, providing assorted curated lists, including our gift book list from October’s newsletter. This November newsletter includes our traditional List of Lists packed with great titles!

2. Red Envelope Sale on Saturday, December 5 and Sunday, December 6: We’re excited to participate in this annual tradition, but have made some changes this year to keep customers and staffers safe. First, we will offer 20% off on both Saturday and Sunday in the store with extended early hours both days. Of course, the 20% discount will also apply to online purchases made not only on Saturday and Sunday but also on Friday, December 4, proceeding the sale and on Monday, December 7, following that weekend. We will not offer appointment shopping on December 5 and 6, but we will limit the number of customers in the store and encourage 30-minute browsing to accommodate all shoppers. So do come ready with your list!

3. Wrapping: We love wrapping books during the holidays! There is always a jolly crowd of booksellers behind the registers happily wrapping books. Unfortunately, given social distancing guidelines, we are unable to safely offer that service in December. So, if you’d like your books wrapped, we encourage you to shop early. Our last day of gift wrapping will be Monday, November 30. We will have a nice selection of gift wrap for sale as well as gift bags. And we’ll also have lots of pre-wrapped books in our most popular categories!

4. Shipping: In years past, we carefully calculate shipping times and make sure that we communicate that to our customers, so that gifts can reach their destinations in a timely manner. This year, however, we are reluctant to hazard any sort of guess given all the uncertainty around shipping and mailing. On our end, we will ship your packages as quickly as possible, but we cannot predict the timing of deliveries.

5. Concierge Shopping: Our phone lines are open from 10 am to 5 pm Monday-Saturday and booksellers are happy to help with your requests for everyone on your list. And don’t forget our email: bookrecs@thebookstall.com. Finally, in last month’s and this month’s newsletter, we have a Holiday Book Recommendation form on page 8; fill it out and drop it in our mailbox out front! Happy reading and stay safe!

VIRTUAL EVENTS in November

Our author events are virtual this month, available to you on your computer or mobile phone. Each of them requires registration. To sign up, please go to www.thebookstall.com and on the home page, click “Events” and scroll down to “November Events.” On the calendar, click on the date of the event and follow the directions for reserving your spot.

THURSDAY, NOV. 5
12 noon  BENJAMIN LENHARDT Gardens of the North Shore of Chicago Avid gardener and preservationist Benjamin Lenhardt presents his book at this University Club of Chicago virtual event. His is an intimate view of private gardens along the shore of Lake Michigan, exploring the rich tradition from Evanston to Lake Bluff.

FRIDAY, NOV. 6
12 noon  SHERROD BROWN Desk 88: Eight Progressive Senators Who Changed America
Since his election to the U.S. Senate in 2006, Ohio’s Sherrod Brown has sat on the Senate floor at mahogany Desk 88. At this Union League of Chicago online event, Sen. Brown discusses eight of the Senators who sat there before him—and the triumphs and failures of the Progressive idea over the past century.

Chicago's Great Fire: The Destruction and Resur-many accessible, comprehensive histories of the period in English.
Viking world is not as alien as we thought. Price has deliberately and archaeological artifacts are used to create a portrait that is mores, and personal grooming. Mythology, medieval histories, religion, warfare, and exploration, to domestic customs, sexual fragments also suggested their authenticity. Still Dr. King was skeptical. But it was not long before she came to believe that what she had in hand was a lost gospel of Mary Magdalene—one that suggested that she was the wife of Jesus. King’s announcement, in 2012, caused a sensation—and outrage. The discovery, if authentic, would strike at the heart of the central narrative of Christianity. The scandal that erupted left more than just reputations in tatters. How could a noted scholar like King be so taken in? And what of the anonymous source of the fragments? This true-life detective story will keep you engrossed as you follow the mystery of The Gospel of Jesus’s Wife.

Children of Ash and Elm: A History of the Vikings by Neil Price ($35). When we think of Vikings, most of us envision large, brutish men in horned helmets swooping down on unsuspecting villages to rape and pillage. Viking women, though less noted, are viewed as large Brunhilda-esque counterparts. But as is often the case, the truth is more interesting.
Neil Price is a Viking scholar at Upsala University in Sweden. With the latest data and scientific research, Price describes the Viking world in all its aspects, from religion, warfare, and exploration, to domestic customs, sexual mores, and personal grooming. Mythology, medieval histories, and archaeological artifacts are used to create a portrait that is complex and familiar. Though separated by two millennia, the Viking world is not as alien as we thought. Price has deliberately written for a non-academic audience. The result is one of a very few accessible, comprehensive histories of the period in English.

Chicago’s Great Fire: The Destruction and Resurrection of an Iconic American City by Carl Smith ($28). On the eve of the 150th anniversary of the fire that destroyed a large part of Chicago, Smith has written the first carefully researched, popular history of the fire and its aftermath. In 1871, Chicago was booming. As the major nexus for rail lines going east and west, north and south, virtually all regional goods and commodities passed through the city. Its huge stockyards and grain elevators ted the nation. Many grew wealthy; many more did not. Immi-giants flocked to the city in search of jobs. Living in wooden shacks, they could only envy the mansions of the very rich. The summer and fall of 1871 had been unusually dry and hot.
Sporadic fires had threatened the city, challenging its fire brigades. The Great Fire did start in the O’Leary’s barn, but how it did remains a mystery. Once lit, the fire, driven by high winds and fueled by the dry wooden buildings, consumed the city. Rich and poor alike struggled to save what they could and flee to safety. After three days, the fire died out. And immediately, Chicago began to rebuild. Smith tells the story based on first-person accounts in letters, journals, and newspaper articles. As a result, the physical destruction takes second place to the human tragedies, acts of heroism, and resurgence of spirit that confronted, survived, and overcame the city’s destruction.

The Daughters of Yalta: The Churchills, Rooseevlets, and Harrimans: A Story of Love and War catherine Grace Katz ($28). History tends to focus on great events, with careful attention to the great leaders whose power and stature shaped the outcomes. These mostly male figures dominate history with little or no thought to the personal and professional support that enabled them to stand forth. Surrounded by experts, three of the key attendees at Yalta brought their daughters for the personal support and assistance they would need. Roosevelt, seriously ill, relied on his daughter Anna to tend to his health—and to keep his secrets. Kathleen Harriman oversaw the preparations of the conference facilities, kept her father’s secrets, and served as his eyes and ears as delegates chatted, seemingly oblivious to her presence. Sarah Churchill, like the others, saw to her father’s comfort and needs but was also a sounding board for his ideas and frustrations. All three women were uniquely qualified to serve in their several capacities, as each had grown up with an insider’s knowledge of politics and international diplomacy. But there were other issues that linked them together. Love relations-ships between the Harrimans and Churchill families were open secrets, as were Roosevelt’s infidelities. For the three daughters, their interactions with each other are constrained and defined by their responsibilities to their fathers. As Katz reveals, those roles were critical to their fathers’ success.

Abe: Abraham Lincoln in His Times by David S. Reynolds ($45). Yet another book about Abraham Lincoln? Most biographies focus on who Lincoln was. Reynolds looks at the forces that formed the man. Lincoln could not transcend the time and culture in which he lived. Its currents shaped and molded him. Yet he managed to balance the competing and often antagonistic forces that swirled about him to define a world view that accommodated elements from multiple points of view. The result was that the country that shaped him would, in turn, be reshaped by him. Reynolds has supplied the critical context that explains much of what seems contradictory or hypocritical in Lincoln’s actions. The book also serves as a caution. We cannot read history without understanding the times and context in which it occurs.

Anxious People
by Fredrick Backman ($28). Fans of A Man Called Ove and the rest of Fredrik Backman’s works will love his new novel, full of predictably quirky characters and insights that stick with you long after finishing the book. In this one, set in a non-descrip town outside of Stockholm, a single action influences many people and unexpectedly brings them together.
Though a failed bank robbery seems to be that single action, we soon learn that the catalyst was actually something that happened 10 years prior. Many of the characters are flawed, as humans tend to be, but you find yourself rooting for them all and become invested in their happiness. A book about emotions, connections, and anxiety that gives you hope is a rare and delightful thing. It was all I could do to not skip to the ending, I was so eager to see how it all turned out.
Sporadic fires had threatened the city, challenging its fire summer and fall of 1871 had been unusually dry and hot. Virtually all regional goods and commodities lines going east and west, north and south, Chicago was booming. As the major nexus for rail direction of an Iconic American City.

Meanwhile... few accessible, comprehensive histories of the period in English. Mythology, medieval histories, research, Price describes the Viking world in all its aspects, from fragments? This true-life detective story will keep you engrossed just reputations in tatters. How could a noted scholar like King's skepticism. But it was not long before she came to believe that fragments also suggested their authenticity. Still Dr. King was obtained an English translation. The provenance of the papyrus. Despite his lack of knowledge of languages, especially biblical studies at Harvard. Beginning in 2010, a man contacted King was a well-respected and knowledgeable professor of Black people, especially Black men, are incarcerated at disproportionate rates, they are the ones being disenfranchised in more ways that being imprisoned. To address these flaws, Alexander concludes that we must rethink it entirely. While reading The New Jim Crow, I kept asking myself, “How did I not know this?” Therein lies why I recommend this book: to know. It has become a modern classic of antiracist literature and belongs on all bookshelves.

Hello children’s book fans, This edition of the newsletter is overflowing with holiday gift ideas for the young and young-at-heart in your life. We hope you find titles that speak to you, but please check the website for more lists of our favorite books from this year. Or call the store at 847 446-8979 between 10 am and 5 pm and talk to a bookseller for recommendations. Amy, Betsy, and I are always happy to help you find just the right book for all the special kids on your list! Kari P.

Holiday Picture Books

- Mistletoe: A Christmas Story by Tad Hills ($17.99). Celebrate Christmas with Mistletoe, a mouse who makes the perfect gift for her best friend.

- The Night Before Christmas by Clement C. Moore, illustrated by Loren Long ($18.99). Loren Long lends his magic to this timeless tale. The illustrations of four different homes reflect the diversity of our current world and the charm of the season.

- The Eight Knights of Hanukkah by Leslie Kimmelman and Galia Bernstein ($17.99). It’s the last night of Hanukkah and everyone is doing their part for the big celebration, but a dragon has other ideas.

- The Hanukkah Magic of Nate Gadol by Arthur A. Levine and Kevin Hawkes ($19.99). In this charming holiday hybrid story, well-known children’s author and editor Arthur A. Levine pairs with award-winning illustrator Kevin Hawkes to offer a mythical, magical take on the way Jewish families came to give and receive gifts over Hanukkah, just as their Christian neighbors do at Christmas, thanks to a loving spirit named Nate Gadol working behind the scenes—together with a certain jolly old soul.

- Jonny Lambert’s Ten Little Reindeer ($12.99). Beautifully illustrated by Jonny Lambert, this delightful picture book makes a wonderful Christmas gift for babies and toddlers. Young children can turn the pages and lift the flaps to discover all things Christmas!

Picture Books

- The Barnabus Project by The Fan Brothers ($18.99). In the dark basement of The Perfect Pets store, where genetically engineered pets are purchased, live all of the “failed experiments.” Barnabus is half-mouse, half-elephant, and lives in a jar on the shelf, along with all the other “failures.” One day, Pup the cockroach shares with Barnabus the news that outside of the Perfect Pet store there is a wonderful world of mountains, lakes, and trees. Barnabus also discovers that he and all the other failures are going to be recycled. In order to escape, Barnabus breaks out of his jar and the others seek their freedom. This is a wonderful story of friendship, teamwork, and bravery, while illustrating a world filled with magic. Ages 4 – 10

- Eric by Shaun Tan ($19.99). When a foreign exchange student comes to live with a typical suburban family, he brings with him a boundless sense of curiosity—and a stream of unexpected questions (which his hosts are never quite sure how to answer). But when the moment comes to say good-bye, a beautiful surprise awaits, and a gift the family will never forget.

- Attack of the Underwear Dragon by Scott Rothman and Pete Oswald ($17.99). Cole’s wish comes true when he becomes an Assistant Knight to Sir Percival, his favorite Knight of King Arthur’s Round Table. Sir Percival is a great knight in every way, except for one thing: He is terrified that an Underwear Dragon will come and destroy the kingdom. When the unthinkable happens, Cole is the only knight left standing! Cole must use his newly acquired skills to battle the fearsome dragon and avoid a catastrophe. Luckily, an unfortunate underwear mishap changes everything!

- The Suitcase by Chris Naylor-Ballesteros ($17.99). When a weary stranger arrives one day, with only a suitcase, everyone is full of questions: Why is he here? Where has he come from? And just what is in that suitcase? Do they dare to either trust the newcomer or discover what they risk by not believing him. This is a story about hope and kindness, truth and perception, and most importantly, about how we treat those in need.

Early Readers and Early Middle Grade

- Armadillo and Hare: Tales from the Forest by Jeremy Strong, illustrated by Rebecca Bagley ($16.99). Armadillo and Hare are friends in the Big Forest. Hare loves dancing. Armadillo loves cheese sandwiches. Hare loves playing the tuba. Armadillo loves cheese sandwiches. Hare loves his best friend, Armadillo. Armadillo loves Hare – and cheese sandwiches! They have quite a mix of friends, including an acrobatic wombat, a know-it-all lobster, a hungry jaguar, and (let’s not forget) the invisible stick insect. Over the course of these 10 stories of friendship, Armadillo and Hare learn some very important lessons. Ages 7-10

- Sofia Valdez and the Vanishing Vote by Andrea Beaty, illustrated by David Roberts ($12.99). Miss Lila Greer announces it’s time for Grade Two to get a class pet, and she wants the kids to participate in choosing which one. After all, they will all have to share the responsibility of caring for it. The class narrows it down to two options: Team Turtle and Team Bird. Sofia is named Election Commissioner, in charge of overseeing a fair and honest election between the two teams. When the votes are counted, there’s a tie! And one vote is missing. How will the class break the tie? Ages 6-9

- Horace & Bunwinkle by PJ Gardner, illustrated by David Motttram ($16.99). Horace Homer Higgins III despises dirt. And the outdoors. And ducks. But when his person, Eleanor, moves to a farm called the Homestead, the anxious Boston terrier is forced to adapt. As if that isn’t enough to strain his nerves, Eleanor adopts a perpetually cheerful potbellied pig named Bunwinkle to be his baby sister. Bunwinkle is delighted to be on the farm despite her stuffy new canine brother. She’s sure she’ll crack his shell eventually—no one can resist her cuteness for long—especially once they bond over watching a TV pet-ective show. When the duo discovers that some neighborhood animals have been disappearing, they decide to use their new detective skills to team up to solve this barnyard mystery. Only one thing seems certain: if they don’t figure it out soon, one of them might be next. Ages 7-10

Middle Grade Fiction

- Skunk and Badger by Amy Timberlake, Illustrated by Jon Klassen ($18.95). No one wants a skunk. They are unwelcome on front stoops. They should not linger in Important Rock Rooms. Skunks should never ever be allowed to move in. But Skunk is Badger’s new roommate, and there is nothing Badger can do about it. When Skunk plows into Badger’s life, everything Badger knows is upended. Tails are flipped. The wrong animal is sprayed. And why-oh-why are there so many chickens? Or learn the answer. Ages 10-14

- The Silver Arrow by Lev Grossman ($16.99). Kate and her younger brother Tom lead dull, uninteresting lives. And if their dull, uninteresting parents are anything to go by, they don’t have much to look forward to. Why can’t Kate have thrilling adventures and save the world the way people do in books? Even her 11th birthday is shaping up to be mundane—that is, until her mysterious and highly irresponsible Uncle Herbert, whom she’s never even met before, surprises her with the most unexpected, exhilarating, inappropriate birthday present of all time: a colossal steam locomotive called the Silver Arrow.

Rever the Speedway Squirrel by Sherri Duskey Rinker, illustrated by Alex Willan ($16.99). His siblings don’t understand his need for speed, but Rever doesn’t care. And he certainly doesn’t care about “ordinary” squirrel things like finding food or climbing trees. He spends his days staring at the racetrack below his nest. When Rever finally gets the chance to head out on his own, becoming part of the race crew is more difficult than he expected. He never learned anything about engines in Squirrel School! But luckily, tire changer Bill has a soft spot for animals. Can Rever prove to Bill that he deserves to be part of the team?

Saucy by Cynthia Kadahata, illustrated by Marianna Raskin ($17.99). Being a quadruplet can make it hard to stand out from the crowd. Becca’s three brothers all have something that makes them... them. Jake has his music and dancing, Jammer plays hockey, and K.C. thinks they’re all living in a simulation. Becca is the only one with nothing to make her special. But when she finds a tiny, sick piglet on the side of the road, Becca knows this is it. This is her thing. She names the piglet Saucy and between her own pleading and Saucy’s sweet, pink face, Becca convinces her family to take her in. Soon, Saucy is as big a part of the family as anyone else—and getting bigger. With each pound Saucy gains, the more capable she becomes of destroying the house and landing Becca in trouble.

We Dream of Space by Erin Entrada Kelly ($16.99). Cash, Fitch, and Bird Nelson Thomas are three siblings in 7th grade together in Park, Delaware. In 1986, as the nation waits expectantly for the launch of the space shuttle Challenger, they each struggle with their own personal anxieties. Cash, who loves basketball but has a newly broken wrist, is in danger of failing 7th grade for the second time. Fitch spends every afternoon playing Major Havoc at the arcade on Main and wrestles with an explosive temper that he doesn’t understand. And Bird, his 12-year-old twin, dreams of being NASA’s first female shuttle commander, but feels like she’s disappearing. The Nelson Thomas children exist in their own orbits, circling a tense and unpredictable household, with little in common except an enthusiastic science teacher named Ms. Salonga. As life at home gets more complicated for the siblings, a science project prompts each of them to reflect on their places in the universe. And when the fated day arrives, it changes all of their lives and brings them together in unexpected ways.

Graphic Novels

InvestiGators: Take the Plunge by John Patrick Green ($9.99). Sewer-loving secret agents Mango and Brash are plunged into a new mystery—and a big mess! S.U.I.T. headquarters is under attack, and Mango and Brash are going undercover and underground disguised as city sewer workers to unclog a sticky situation. But when their search for the criminal Crackerdill backfires, the toilets they travel through back up—and the InvestiGators take the blame for it! Ages 7 – 10

Witches of Brooklyn by Sophie Escabasse ($12.99). Could there really be witches in Brooklyn? Effie’s aunts are weird. Like, really, really weird! Does this mean she can do magic, too? Life in Brooklyn takes a strange twist for Effie as she learns more about her family and herself. With new friends who will do whatever they can to be there for her, a cursed pop-star, and her magically-inclined aunts—Effie’s life is about to get interesting. Ages 8 - 12

Twins by Varian Johnson and Shannon Wright ($12.99). Maureen and Francine Carter are twins and best friends. They participate in the same clubs, enjoy the same foods, and are partners on all their school projects. But just before the girls start 6th grade, Francine becomes Fran—a girl who wants to join the chorus, run for class president, and dress in fashionable outfits that set her apart from Maureen. The twins are growing apart, and there’s nothing Maureen can do to stop it. Are sisters really forever? Or will middle school change things for good? Ages 8 - 12

Class Act by Jerry Craft ($12.99). Craft follows up the Newbery award-winning New Kid, with this poignant and funny companion graphic novel about Jordan’s friend Drew. Eighth grader Drew Ellis is no stranger to the saying, “You have to work twice as hard to be just as good.” His grandmother has told him that his entire life. But lately he’s been thinking: Even if he works 10 times as hard, he may never get the same opportunities that his privileged classmates at the prestigious Riverdale Academy Day School take for granted. Then, after a visit to his friend Liam’s house, Drew realizes that Liam is one of those privileged kids. He wants to pretend like everything is okay, but even his best friend, Jordan, can tell that something is up. As the pressures build, and he starts to feel more isolated than ever, will Drew find a way to bridge the divide so he and his friends can truly accept each other? And more importantly, will he finally be able to accept himself? Ages 8 - 12

City of Secrets: Secret of the Switchboard by Victoria Ying ($14.99). Ever Barnes is a shy orphan guarding a secret in an amazing puzzle box of a building. Most of the young women who work at the building’s Switchboard Operating Facility, which connects the whole city of Oskar, look the other way as Ever roams around in the shadows. But one of them, Lisa, keeps an eye on the boy. So does the head of the Switchboard, Madame Alexander—a rather sharp eye. Enter Hannah, the spunky daughter of the building’s owner. She thinks Ever needs a friend, even if he doesn’t know it yet. Good thing she does! Lisa and Madame Alexander are each clearly up to something. And whatever is hidden deep in the Switchboard building will determine all of their future. Ages 8 - 12

Beetle & the Hollowbones by Aliza Layne ($12.99). In the eerie town of ‘Allows, some people get to be magical sorceresses, while other people have their spirits trapped in the mall for all ghastly eternity. Then there’s 12-year-old orphaned Beetle, who’s caught in between. She’d rather skip being home-schooled completely and spend time with her best friend, Blob Glost. But the mall is getting boring, and B.G. is cursed to haunt it, tethered there by some unseen force. And now Beetle’s old best friend, Kat, is back in town for a sorcery apprenticeship with her Aunt Hollowbone. Kat is everything Beetle wants to be: beautiful, cool, great at magic, and kind of famous online. Beetle’s quickly being left in the dust. But Kat’s mentor has set her own vile scheme in motion. Now, Beetle has less than a week to rescue her best ghost and confront the magic she’s been avoiding for far too long. Ages 8 - 12

Dragon Hoops by Gene Luen Yang ($24.99). Part meta-memoir, part history of basketball, part chronicle of a championship high school basketball team, this Harvey Award-winning graphic novel is the latest triumph for Gene Luen Yang. Gene doesn’t get sports. But at Bishop O’Dowd High School, it’s all anyone can talk about. The men’s varsity basketball team, the Dragons, is having a phenomenal season that’s been decades in the making. Each victory brings them closer to their ultimate goal: the California State Championships. Once Gene gets to know these young all-stars, he realizes that their story is just as thrilling as anything he’s seen on a comic book page.

What he doesn’t know yet is that this season is not only going to change the Dragons’ lives, but his own life as well. Ages 14 - 18
